

The Launch of the NEC Training Academy

Written by Bob Snyder
16. 07. 2012

Aimed at sales and technical staff of NEC's specialist partner network, the NEC Training Academy hopes to build up the product intelligence of the partners to increase the know-how of partners' sales and technical support functions.

In an increasingly complex display industry, the Training Academy will help partners become experts-- and, therefore, better ambassadors of NEC hardware and software solutions.

Training sessions with ensuing certification tests will be regularly held in Munich, and can be delivered in local languages on request.

The 2-day tutorial will have both theoretical and hands-on sessions covering NEC displays and projectors, including all product features and benefits as well as practical training on installing and remote-controlling video walls and installation projectors, and conducting display colour calibration.

Go Details of Dates, Pricing, Terms, and Conditions of the NEC Training Academy