Written by Bob Snyder
04. 12. 2014

Quantum of the Seas…it's a ship that owner RoyalCaribbean International describes by saying, "By taking a quantum leap forward with the first ship in our Quantum class, we're holding ourselves up to the promise of building ships that take you to new heights."

Yes, the cruise ship offers the first ever sky-diving simulator at sea… the North Star, a jewel-shaped capsule that gently ascends over 300 feet above sea level for breathtaking 360° views… completely revolutionary spaces that transform from day to night…and newly designed, modular staterooms that feature the first virtual balconies at sea.

So, it's no surprise to discover Royal Caribbean International's Quantum-Class ships will offer new huge quantum-class entertainment venues with spectacular 360 projection technology and 100" screens wielded on six gigantic robotic arms.

